COUNT ONEALLEGATION

You have been assigned to the dependency department in Indio since August 2005.

The dependency calendar routinely concludes before noon.

Since approximately January 2006, you routinely have left the courthouse for the day after the calendar is concluded.

You have not informed your superiors of your routine absences during court hours, and have not sought or received authorization for these half-day absences.

ANSWER

Admit assignment began November 2005.

Admit such has been the case since approximately later 2006 or early 2007.

Admit leaving the courthouse for the day after all work and judicial business was concluded.

Admit that I have not sought official authorization in advance for half day absences before the fall of 2008, but deny that my superiors were not aware. In fact, no superior raised any issue with me regarding my hours until September 12, 2008, and, when it was raised, I conformed my hours to their expectations.

On occasion, the juvenile delinquency judge in Indio has handled ex parte dependency matters during your afternoon absences.

Admit, and I cover matters for him as well.

You generally have not sought to make yourself available for other judicial work during these absences.

Deny.
